Council Passes 23.7 Per Cent Gas Increase Ordinance

4 BID TO BUILD NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Rate Boost To Appear On February Bills

Hike Affects Home, Commercial Users; In Force 3 Years

Salem City Council Tuesday night unanimously passed a gas rate ordinance that will boost rates for residential and commercial consumers here an average of 23.7 per cent during the next three years.

The ordinance, presented by the Natural Gas Company of West Virginia, was passed under suspension of rules.

Bruce Cox, district manager of the gas company, said the rates will go into effect on gas consumed after Jan. 17. The first bills reflecting the increase will be received by consumers in February.

City Council President Curtis Vaughan said legal procedure dictates that the ordinance must be published twice, becoming effective 10 days after the first publication.

The rates will be raised 19 per cent during the first year, and 26 per cent during the second and third years.

New Gas Rates
The new rates are: first year—15 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,000 cubic feet each month; 8 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 4,000; 6.8 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 95,000; and 6.5 cents per 100 cubic feet for all in excess of 100,000.
A minimum charge of $1.50 per month would be in effect the first year.

Rates for the second and third years: 7 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 800 cubic feet each month; 7 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 4,200; 7 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 95,000; and 6 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for all in excess of 200,000. The minimum charge during the second and third years would be $2 a month.

Rate Adjustment Clause
The ordinance also included a clause relating to rate adjustments here resulting from the merger of Natural Gas with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. which is expected in January. The clause reads:

"At such time as a merger between the Natural Gas Company of West Virginia and Ohio Fuel Gas Co. shall be consummated, or one year following the effective date of this ordinance, whichever is later, the aforesaid rate shall be subject to adjustment in accordance with a fuel cost clause authorized by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio in its order dated Sept. 23, 1955 in Docket No. 24,226 and such fuel cost clause is hereby incorporated by reference."

An escalator clause contained in a previous company - drafted ordinance would have enabled the firm to immediately pass on to the consumer any raise in the wholesale cost of gas that may result from the merger.

Ends 8-Month Dispute
The proposal last night followed several offers and counter offers exchanged between council and the company during the past eight months.

Council turned down a company proposal last May that called for a 26 per cent increase in rates. Last September Council again rejected an alternate proposal of the firm. In turn, the company rejected a Council offer in October that would have increased rates 20 per cent. The company again rejected Council's 20 per cent increase proposal, resubmitted after further Council discussion at the Nov. 6 meeting. On Nov. 20 Council gave first reading to a compromise ordinance.

Nehru Relates Chinese Reds' Views To Ike

Says Communists Feel U. S. Should Move To Be Friendly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Nehru said today he had given the "thinking" of the Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to President Eisenhower—including the Red view that it is time for the United States to make a friendly move toward Communist China.

Nehru told a 45-minute news conference that his talks with Eisenhower here had shown him that the United States policy "is not as rigid as I had thought." He indicated this might apply to the U. S. attitude toward Red China but said he could not say specifically.

Nehru also said he thinks the United States and Russia are "not far apart" on problems of how to establish a world wide disarmament system. The great difficulty between them, he said, is a lack of confidence and the most urgent need is for measures to create confidence.

Rapid Fire Questions
Responding in rapid fire manner to dozens of questions, Nehru asserted that he thinks the changes which have occurred in the Soviet Union since Josef Stalin died are fundamental and the "post Stalinist" policy cannot be suppressed.

He characterized the changes as moves toward "democratization and liberalization."

Part of the reason for the move toward more democracy in Russia, he said, is that the Soviet people are becoming increasingly literate and also "technically minded."

The Russian people "passionately desire peace," he added, and are "extremely friendly and hospitable."

He said he doubted that any Communist country could ever become a parliamentary democracy like the United States or India but he said that he thought "other forms" of democracy which would express the popular will "will almost inevitably take shape."

Nehru expressed hope that 10 Americans still held in Communist China "will be released" but he said it would be "embarrassing" to talk about the problem of these Americans in any detail since the matter was one for another government that what he could say about it might not be true.

But in reference to Red China's Chu En-lai, who completed a trip to India just before Nehru came here, the Indian statesman said "obviously we have discussed this with him and will discuss it with him."

Nehru has a date to have a second meeting with Chou En-lai at New Delhi on Dec. 30.

One of the first questions put to Nehru was whether he had given Eisenhower any message from the Chinese Communist Premier.

"I did not bring any particular message from Chou En-lai," he said. "Naturally I had talks with him and I gave the President the

Nixon To Begin Refugee Survey

Ike Thanks Austria For All It Has Done

VIENNA (AP) — Vice President Nixon was flying to Austria today to survey the Hungarian refugee problem. He carried President Eisenhower's thanks for all the small country has done to help the fugitives from Soviet oppression.

Austrian officials hoped Nixon's two-day tour would bring a U.S. offer of financial aid, and perhaps in addition an offer to give new homes in the United States to still more of the refugees arriving from Hungary.

Before leaving Washington, Nixon said he hoped to return Sunday or Monday with "firm recommendations" for handling U.S. aid to refugees. He will consider whether the United States can expand or revise its own activities in meeting the refugee problem.

Nixon Met President
Nixon met with the President for final instructions. The vice president told a crowd of well-wishers at Washington's National Airport that he was carrying a message to Austria's Chancellor Julius Raab expressing Eisenhower's appreciation for "all that Austria has done."

The officials accompanying Nixon gave an indication of the problems he has in mind. Among them were John B. Hollister, head of the International Cooperation Administration, through which U.S. foreign aid is channeled, and William P. Rogers, deputy to Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, who advises the President on the emergency admittance of refugees into the United States.

To Visit Camps
Nixon will visit refugee camps and confer with Austrian officials. Security officials ruled out a trip to the border to see the arrival of refugees.

Moscow radio quoted a charge from Pravda that Nixon's visit was an attempt to stir up more trouble in Hungary. It claimed the vice president's trip violated Austrian neutrality.

Maps Worth Millions
Four Arrested In Connection With Theft Of Secret Oil Maps

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI has arrested four men in connection with the alleged theft of top-secret oil exploration maps that a government attorney says are "worth millions."

The maps, federal authorities said, were stolen from the Pittsburgh offices of the Gulf Oil Co.

by a employee they said wanted to sell them to pay off gambling debts to New York racketeers.

The arrests Tuesday followed a raid on the offices of the U. S. Tackless Corp. in the Bronx. FBI agents said they recovered many of the oil company's geological and seismicographic maps at the offices of the carpet firm.

Oil Promoter Held
Among the four arrested on charges of transporting stolen property across state lines was Odie Richard Seagraves, 70, well-known Texas oil and natural gas promoter. Seagraves denied any connection with the alleged theft of the oil maps.

Also arrested was Emanuel Lester, 32, already in jail awaiting sentence for trying to extort more than half a million dollars from the late financial manipulator Serge Rubinstein. Federal officials said Seagraves was a former partner of Rubinstein in the early 1940s. The officials said the two Rubinstein connections were coincidental as far as they knew.

The others seized were John Marvin Leivia, 34, Orange, Tex., and Edward Lieberman, 30, the Bronx, listed as president of Tackless Corp. and identified as Lester's brother.

Face 10-Year Terms
If convicted, each could get a 10-year prison term and a fine of $10,000.

In Pittsburgh, Archie D. Gray, general counsel for Gulf, said the thefts, involving maps of potential oil-producing areas in the Southwest, Canada and the Near East, were discovered by the company a year ago.

He said Gulf became aware that the maps were missing when the company discovered lands it had surveyed in the Southwest were being snapped up by wildcat operators.

School Board Opens Bids On $2 Million Job

Contracts To Be Let On New Senior High In Few Days

Four firms submitted general contract bids for Salem's new senior high school when bids were opened by the Board of Education at a special meeting at noon today.

The modern educational structure is to be built on ground acquired by the board between E. 6th and E. 9th Streets, with work expected to get under way early in the spring.

The general contract bids were submitted today by:

Weinstein Construction Co., of Akron—$1,683,700;

Joseph Bucheit and Sons of Youngstown—$1,653,283;

Freeman Construction Co., of Wooster—$1,525,000;

Gibson and Co., of Warren—$1,573,730.

All four firms also submitted varying bids on several alternate proposals for phases of the project.

Other bids were being opened on the heating, ventilating and plumbing work, electrical work, elevator and the gymnasium folding partitions.

The board will consult with the architect on the bids and meet in several days to let the contracts.

Architect Ray Dela Motte of Cleveland had estimated the cost of the modern steel, stone and brick structure at two million dollars.

Plans do not include an auditorium as was originally contemplated, due to limited funds. An auditorium is expected to be added later if funds become available.

37 Classrooms Planned
The long, low building will be located between E. 6th and E. 9th Sts., and N. Lincoln and N. Union Ave. It will contain 37 classrooms and offer a floor space of 145,190 square feet.

Most of the building will be one-story tall except for some of the classroom sections.

It will feature a large gym, a cafeteria, spacious library and advanced trades class and industrial arts facilities besides its many classrooms and laboratory rooms.

The gym, which will seat about 2,400 persons, will be 100 feet by 130 feet in overall size with a playing floor of 84 by 50 feet for varsity basketball games.

It will offer two full size gym floors side by side in which boys and girls gym classes can be held simultaneously, separated by an electrically - operated sliding partition.

These two courts can be broken down into four smaller courts for practices.

During varsity games, folding bleachers will roll out from the east and west sides of the gym. Twenty doors will provide easy entrance and exit from the gym.

Surrounding the gym will be locker rooms, drying rooms, showers, storage rooms, offices, stands, check rooms and offices.

Complete Laboratories
The school's laboratories will of-

Joseph--A Fight with Galling Shame

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourth in a series of eight studies of the birth and times of Christ. It illuminates the challenge presented Joseph and recounts his rewarding triumph.

By GEORGE CORNELL
(AP Newsfeatures)

Walk slowly now. Think calmly, Joseph. The air is cool and dark and the depths of the night are uncharted. Be not overwise nor overhasty, though the feasts have turned into mourning and the gladness to gall.

"My God, my God!"
Walk slowly, oh Joseph, in the darkness, with shoulders bent and sorrow burning your bones as on a hearth. Search the heart. There are things which seem right to a man, but the end thereof are ways of death.

"Oh God, the very waves of the sea rage in me, foaming out their shame."

He stopped beside a tree and put his hands over his face. His body shook. How lovely she seemed, how fair. But the splendor has turned to ashes, the rubies to clay.

With his fist, Joseph struck the bole of the tree. He turned his drawn face upward, his eyes pinched shut with beseeching. "Oh Lord, give light to thy servant whose spirit is bitter unto death."

HOW TENDERLY he had cherished his betrothed, his Mary. Her pledge to him, at his greater age, had been like a healing touch. But the image was fallen and crumbled. His Mary was with child!

Walk slowly, oh Joseph, and meditate your duty. The air is cool and dark. Tread carefully this inner abyss. Judge well your steps.

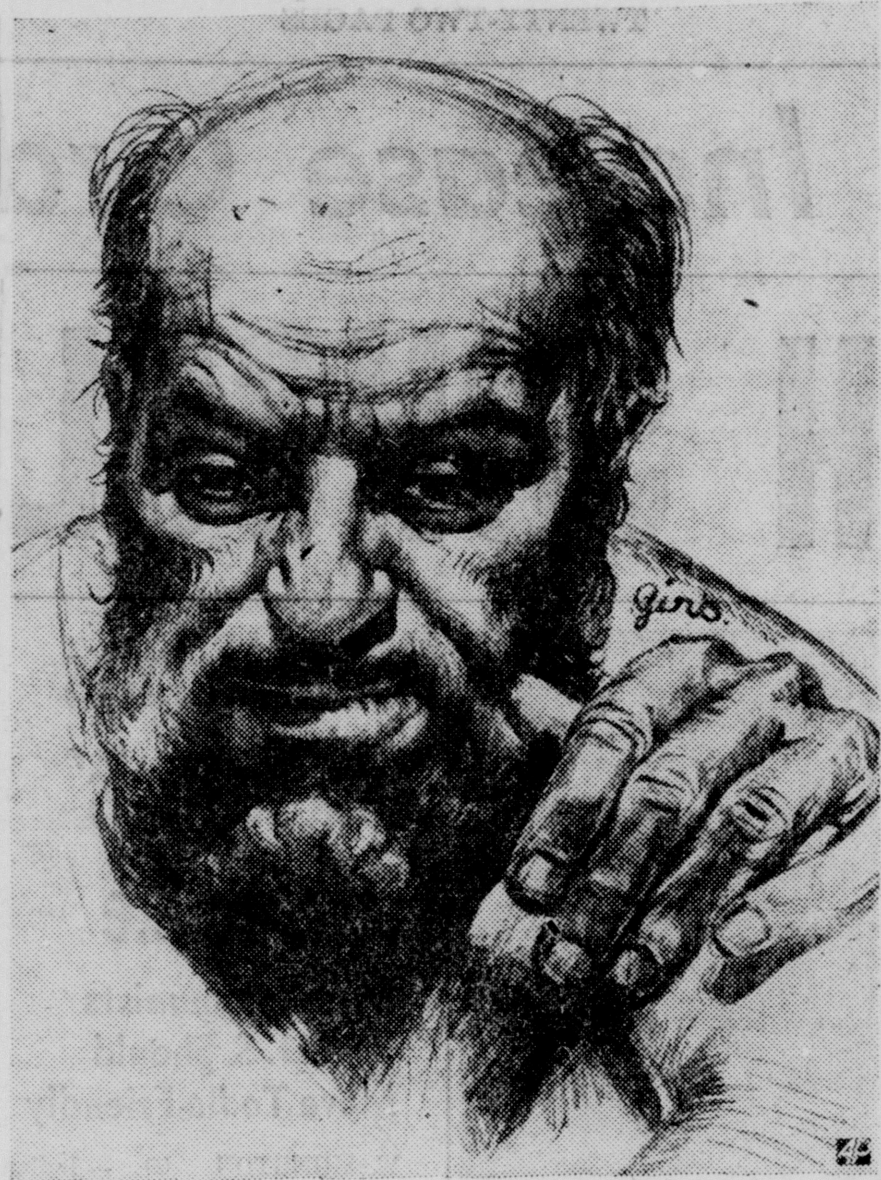

And what does man do? Why, put her away, speedily! Disown her and make void the betrothal. Leave Mary to disgrace and grief. Sit in judgment on this new life, and ordain condemnation!

Their vows, in that day, were like unto a marriage, and the betrothed might be together and bear children properly, but they had not. Three months ago, she left Nazareth in haste to be with her cousin, Elizabeth.

On her return, he knew. Walk slowly, oh Joseph. Think well. Bear all things, hope all things, endure all things. Bind mercy and love about you.

The air is cool, Joseph, and dark. Sleep well. The fever leaves your brow.

IN THE NIGHT, it came, dream-

JOSEPH

like, sure wisdom. "Joseph, son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary for thy wife, for that which is conceived of her is of the Holy Ghost, and she shall bring forth a Son... Jesus."

With great gladness, he rose from his bed, and took Mary as his wife, and her time drew nigh, and sweetness as a song was in his house.

When the emperor's decree went out for the census, he did not leave her alone, but took her with him. And the dust of the road, of the 84 miles, did not oppress them, and she rode on the burro smiling at her Joseph.

No, there was no room in the Bethlehem inn, but there was hay in the stone stable, the warmth of beasts, and bright stars looked in. So the Child was born.

When the Boy was 8 days old, He was circumcised, and given the name, "Yeshua," or Jesus, which means the "Salvation of God."

For 40 days, they took the Child and within a year, three learned Eastern nobles came with gifts from Persia, from 1,500 miles or more, and adored the Child, saying their researches had convinced them a new, prominent star had signalled the birth of a sublime One.

Then Joseph learned of Herod's jealousy — his design to slay all children of Bethlehem.

RISE UP, JOSEPH! You are young no more, but you are armed with love. It girds you like strong timber, like the Ebon tree. Rise up, poor carpenter! And stand against your own Goliath.

In the night, with laden burro, they went, taking their Child. Out of Judea toward Egypt, more than 250 miles, mingling with wayfarers, tenting by night, resting under a sycamore tree.

For only a while, they remained in Egypt; then Herod the Great died, and they came back toward the high country of Jerusalem.

And when they learned that Archelaus, a loutish son of Herod, now ruled there for Rome, and 2,000 Jews had been crucified, 3,000 slain in riots and 30,000 sold into slavery, they journeyed northward by another route back to their old home in the lowlands of Galilee.

In the newly disjoined kingdom, another son of Herod, called Herod Antipas, ruled in Galilee, and they were safe. So Joseph taught the Boy gently and well, the trade of his hands and the words of the Lord.

OH JOSEPH, of the great heart, wearing goodness and understanding. You are strong, Joseph, a man of hard toil, of gnarled hands and faith. For a short moment long ago, you hesitated before this Child, but then, in great love, you battled for Him, and won.

You will endure, Joseph, for out of homeless nights and weary journeys and strength, and sacrifice for a Child, you built not beams and trestles but life. Old carpenter, it is said you died at 110, but the structure that you raised lives on beyond the best of wood.

You did not know, Joseph. But that Boy was yours, nourished in your love, and is yours, and all mankind's who want Him.

Farmers Needn't Pay Tax on Stored Grain

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Some 600 Fayette County grain producers apparently will not have to pay personal property tax on grain they stored under Commodity Credit Corp. regulations.

Common Pleas Judge John P. Case Tuesday ruled the tax "invalid, erroneous, unlawful and unreasonable." He granted a permanent injunction against its collection by the county auditor and treasurer. Previously, he granted a temporary injunction.

The county auditor and treasurer were defendants in the suit, filed by Rollo M. Marchant and Glenn Smith, although both said they believed farmers were not subject to the tax.

State officials were unavailable for comment.

Ohio Supreme Court Hastens To Settle Cases At Hand

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Supreme Court put on a burst of speed today in preparation for a new term starting Jan. 8.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt said decisions in all cases handled by present members of the court will be announced this month.

He explained that the action will clear the decks for a new member, former Gov. Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland.

Herbert, elected last Nov. 6, will be sworn at 2 p. m. Jan. 2 for a six-year term.

The ceremonies will be held in the court's reception room where two other members of the tribunal were sworn last week for new terms.

They were Weygandt, who will start an unprecedented fifth six-year term when the court convenes, and Judge John M. Mathias of Columbus, now completing the unexpired term of his late father, Judge Edward S. Mathias, who served on the high court for 39 years.

Herbert, who also served as an Ohio attorney general, will leave his Washington post as chairman of the Subversives Activities Control Board to become a judge.

He will succeed Judge William L. Hart of Alliance who, at the age of 89, did not seek re-election.

About 125 cases and motions were pending before the high court this month, Clerk Elliot E. Welch of Columbus reported. He said announced decisions would dispose of about a third of that total.

One of the awaited decisions deals with the question of whether state highway funds can be used to plan a 4½ million dollar parking garage under the Statehouse grounds. A Cincinnati parking lot operator, acting as a taxpayer, contended that the state constitution bans use of about $64,000 to plan the project authorized by the Legislature.

"The court docket is current," Chief Justice Weygandt reported. Court attaches estimated that cases to be considered by the court probably would be decided within three months after the new term starts.

The term ends Dec. 31 but hearings were concluded last week.

Other members of the court, which eventually deals with every human problem in litigation, are Judges Kingsley A. Taft of Cleveland, James F. Bell of London, Charles B. Zimmerman of Springfield and James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati.

SOHIO CUTS PRICES

CLEVELAND (AP)—Standard Oil Co. of Ohio today cut retail gasoline prices at its company-owned stations a half cent a gallon. Under the reduction, standard gasoline is 23.9 cents a gallon. The firm said an excess supply of gasoline in the nation made the cut possible.

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third in a series of five articles sketching the personalities and problems which will be in the news the next half-year as the Republicans take sole control of Ohio's Capitol.

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The day William McKinley was 50 years old, another staunch Republican was born in the hills of southeastern Ohio.

Today the other staunch Republican is one of Ohio's most powerful political figures—Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, a mild-mannered, loose-jointed shoe merchant whom the political sharpies long since have ceased to regard as a hick from the hills.

The city-trained lawmakers and lobbyists don't even notice "Uncle Stan's" drawl anymore, for they are acutely aware he has the shrewd eye of a New England horse trader and is a whiz on state money problems.

Stan Mechem first came from his Nelsonville home to serve in the Ohio Senate in 1943 at the start of John W. Bricker's last term as governor. He came to Columbus with a deep admiration of his boyhood hero—the martyred President McKinley—whose birthday he shared. He still retains that admiration, no doubt fostered by the late Sen. Robert Pollock, Canton Republican, who spoke often and lovingly of McKinley.

But to apply the tag of "McKinley Republican" to Sen. Mechem would be loose name-calling, for that tag implies the person on whom it is pinned hasn't changed his ideas since 1901 when the Niles, Ohio, native fell before an assassin's bullet.

True, no one is likely ever to dub this man who calls the turn in the upper house of the Ohio Legislature a radical. And it is true some of his fellow-Republicans from Ohio's big cities may be farther to the left than he. His record in the inner workings of the Senate shows he shuns reaction just as he does radicalism. If he can be classified, he probably belongs in the broad slot labeled "conservative."

Sen. Mechem probably is the most conservative of the three Republican men who will be steering the state government after Jan. 14. But he worked well and harmoniously with House Speaker Roger Cloud during the 1955 session of the General Assembly. And he admires Gov.-elect C. William O'Neill, a former House speaker who hails from Marietta, also in southeastern Ohio.

Mechem at 63 (he'll be 64 Jan. 29) will be starting his third session as majority leader Jan. 7.

He is a firm believer in the axiom: "Make haste slowly."

As majority leader, he holds the traditional companion post, the chairmanship of the all-powerful rules committee. That committee receives bills from other committees as they are reported back favorably to the Senate after hearings and study. The rules committee then places the bills on the Senate calendar for a floor vote—or it doesn't.

Scores of bills die each session because the rules committee fails to put them on the calendar. Mechem has a simple formula:

"Unless I know I've got the votes (to pass the measure), it doesn't go on the calendar."

So effective was this formula in the 1955 session that not a single bill was defeated on the floor of the Senate. If it got on the calendar, it was approved by the Senate.

By his very nature, the tall spare Senate leader is no bully-boy; he never brandishes his great power like a club. He fancies himself, rather, as a peacemaker. Some of the truces he patches up between warring factions of his own party sometimes come unglued, but they stick long enough to take care of the business at hand—which generally is to determine party policy on a bill.

And, as more than one senator has observed privately, when you can operate that way, you don't need a club.

Man Proves He Stole 300-Pound Safe

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—Police said 22-year-old Arthur McLaughlin of Canton built a pretty good case against himself Tuesday in the theft of a 300-pound safe from Koonie's confectionery here Monday night.

Officers said they were on their way to investigate the theft Tuesday when McLaughlin hailed them and confided, "I'm the man you're looking for."

They quoted him as saying he had been drinking, broke into Koonies through a window, ate two ice cream bars, opened the front door and carried the safe to his car.

The police looked in the car and found the safe, unopened on the back seat.

They wouldn't believe McLaughlin when he said no one was with him and asked him if he could carry the safe back into the store.

With no trouble at all, they said, McLaughlin did.

He went to jail.

Six Of One

Another football season has gone into the records, except for post-season receipts from bowl games and recriminations among professionals.

One thing has been made clear this year — the first year of official Ivy League competition. The Ivy League concept of college football as a game played by bona fide students for fun — win or lose — is offsetting the opposite concept of college football as a spectacle for alumni and ticket-buying public.

It will not be easy to say goodbye to big-time football. University of Pennsylvania alumni even now are protesting the rehiring of that Ivy League school's win-and-lose coach. But that is the essence of the Ivy League concept — that academic authorities control athletic policy. Penn won four, lost five this year, good enough to suit the academic authorities, even though it infuriated alumni who insist on "winning 'em all."

There will be colleges and universities which put alumni demand for victory at any cost ahead of academic control of athletics. But henceforth there will be other colleges and universities which put football on the same footing as other academic activities.

It no longer will be an unbearable disgrace to coaches and players in these schools to drop a game, provided it was played to the best of the students' ability. Football finally is going to be six of one half a dozen of the other — bona fide students, or the semi-pros.

Boon For Blab-Off

The best thing to come out of the rehash of campaign spending before a congressional investigation is an agreement that politics became a bore in this year's election.

Both parties now know they would have been better off if they had bought less time on television and radio.

In the race to call attention to themselves and their candidates they succeeded only in calling to the fact they were elbowing their way into the living rooms of the American people.

They unintentionally put up a multi-million-dollar subsidy for Blab-Off — the device that makes it possible for a TV-viewer to strangle a spieler by remote control.

While the advertising agencies whose experts guide the public relations of political organizations may think of irritation as a means of getting out the vote, politicians never will take the risk again. They want irritation to be concentrated on their opponents, not divided between their opponents and themselves.

Walking On Grass

The two lawyers who became whipping boys in the gas bill fiasco early this year, know how Jacob Coxey felt when he was arrested for walking on the grass when he led his famous "army" to Washington in 1894.

They have drawn fines of $2,500 apiece for technical violation of the federal lobbying law while carrying on what President Eisenhower called "questionable activities" when he vetoed the gas bill. Superior Oil Co. of California has been fined $10,000 for its part in the incident that made headlines when Sen. Case of S. Dakota claimed he had been improperly approached.

These are the only tangible results of what started out to be a sensational incident last January and February. A couple of lawyers and an oil company have been fined for technical violations of a law so murky no one knows what it means.

The presidential veto last February was interpreted in some quarters to mean Mr. Eisenhower had decided to seek a second term. It was a popular veto of a good bill that had been given a bad name by its opponents.

Grim Business

When household titles in publications like Collier's, Woman's Home Companion and American disappear from the newsstands and mailmen's pouches in less than the space of a year, no one needs to be reminded that publishing is grim business.

Its bugaboo is production costs that rise faster than income can be made to rise — faster and further. There is a point of satiety in advertising revenue but there is no point of satiety in costs. As long as it continues to be the belief of those who can raise costs by decree that it is better to go whole hog than none, the mortality rate among publications will be high.

The three Crowell-Collier publications that have been crowded out of the field by deficit operations with no hope of relief all filled fields of usefulness. All had many satisfied subscribers. But none could collect enough advertising revenue to cover the costs of keeping their satisfied subscribers satisfied.

It is an old story in modern publishing—the never-ending fight to keep costs and income in a workable relationship. There is no guarantee of a happy ending.

We wouldn't mind people who disagree with us if they weren't so disagreeable about it.

France on Crying Jag

By MARTIN S. HAYDEN

U. S. Blamed For Woes In Wave of Self-Pity

PARIS
France today is a spanked child angrily seeking someone to blame. Sure that France cannot be responsible for compounded misfortunes—the loss of Indochina, the forced liberation of Tunisia and Morocco, the Algerian revolt and now a Suez Canal adventure turned sour—Frenchmen almost unanimously have picked America as their culprit.

The result is a breathtaking (for an American) series of charges voiced with sadness by old friends and with venom by Frenchmen casually met: One hears the "fact" that Dwight Eisenhower, always lazy and uncultured, is also a pacifist who ducked World War I combat.

John Foster Dulles is "revealed" as the paid tool of the Arabian-American Oil Company which allegedly is trying to grab British and French concessions.

UNITED NATIONS Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is described in a top Paris magazine as a rich, snobbish "yes man and bird brain."

Americans, gossip-column readers learn, are hiring the revolutionists who are shooting French soldiers in Algeria.

And, just to top things off, the picture magazine "Paris-Match" suggests America's professed anti-colonialism should be measured by the morality, presumably some years ago, "of a Massachusetts where bounty for Indian scalps ranged from $100 for a warrior to $50 for a girl of less than 10."

Unhappy U.S. diplomats attribute the crumbling of 10 years' investment in French friendship to a compounding of continued impotence of French domestic government, waning world power and the bankruptcy of the "Grand Gesture" of the attack on Egypt dictator Nasser.

They predict that French realization of the need for the Western Alliance to keep Russia's Budapest tanks from rolling into Western Europe will ultimately bring France around but meanwhile the nation's crying jag is sparked by rumors and stories, some seemingly inspired in high places and an anti-American orgy in the often irresponsible French press.

"PARIS - MATCH" paces the press attack with a current lead article by its foreign editor, Raymond Cartier. He traces present troubles to the claim Dwight Eisenhower was an idle youth—

"it is clear Ike donned a uniform without divine call and because a boy had to decide to be something when he reached 21"—indocinated with "mystic pacifism" by his religious mother.

Cartier says a young officer Eisenhower saw no World War I fighting, although normally "One must chain down a young West Pointer to prevent his running to fight" and opines that today "this hereditary pacifism is stronger than ever in a man who feels closer to the imperatives of his youth as the years pass."

Most Frenchmen, still remembering the Eisenhower publicity as France's D-Day "liberator" prefer Dulles and ARAMCO for the whipping-boy roles. Widely published is the story that a planeload of Algerian rebels captured by the French during a flight to Morocco carried with them documentary proof that ARAMCO was financing the rebellion which sent thousands of French boys to compulsory service in a new guerrilla war.

In response to an unofficial U.S. protest the French government has written the American embassy here that no such documents exist but for reasons of their own, the French ministers have not denied the story in the French press.

FINALLY, there is the fantasy that makes Mr. Dulles an ARAMCO payroller. According to this tale, repeated three times to this reporter over the weekend by different and responsible Frenchmen, the Anglo-French agreement to withdraw their Suez invaders was not the thing that led President Eisenhower to order emergency oil shipments to Europe.

The "fact," it is reported solemnly, is that the French government delivered to Ambassador Douglas Dillon documentary proof of a Dulles-ARAMCO tie which the ambassador carried personally to Washington.

This tale makes Mr. Eisenhower "an essentially good man who was shocked at what he saw and who directed Mr. Dulles to stop penalizing the French."

Frenchmen generally concede the era of bad feeling will pass. Cartier concludes his bitter article by observing that "it's useless to curse America unless we decide to punish her by delivering ourselves to Moscow."

A Paris hotel-keeper puts it differently with the confident assurance that: "Frenchmen are sensible; this will all pass before the spring tourist season starts."

Transit Woes Tackled

By ALAN EMORY

Creation of a national committee on urban transportation has been praised as a possible solution to the ills plaguing the public transit systems of the country's cities.

According to one analysis of the situation, most of the 1,500 municipal systems are losing money or just breaking even. A few cities have taken over their systems by default. In other cases the system has been abandoned without full consideration of the loss of community benefits.

David S. Arnold, publications director of the International City Managers Association, says the best hope lies in "transportation planning."

This takes into account basic use of land, rapid transit below ground, in elevated systems and on the surface. Automobile traffic and buses are considered as feeders for the systems.

THE NATIONAL committee is working to develop standards and methods that can be applied to urban transport problems. Pilot studies under way in Detroit, San Diego, Phoenix, Albuquerque, Syracuse, Oak Park, Ill., Crawfordsville, Ind., and Pocahontas are slated for completion next July 1.

Mr. Arnold has found that automobile ownership is the main factor in declining public transit systems, since more persons driving their own cars means fewer riding streetcars or buses. The cars also add to traffic congestion and reduce the speed of transit vehicles to a point where they become less attractive to passengers.

Only one city in the country with more than 25,000 residents does not have an organized public transit system—Provo, Utah.

Mr. Arnold says the odds are against most cities in the 25,000-and-over group accommodating all cars in their main business districts and in the larger cities all traffic cannot possibly move by auto. Most families have only one car, so the husband or wife usually rides the public transit system.

THEREFORE, he points out, public transit "must remain an integral part of the urban transportation scene."

In Washington the new owners of the public transit system have come forth with ideas for shopping-hour express runs, replete with orange juice and coffee, plus package carrying for the stores. Much of this program, though, remains to be tested.

Mr. Arnold lists seven recent proposals made to help city transportation:

1. Easing or abolishing franchise taxes and a related plan to allow a transit company to raise or low er fares frequently to keep income in line with operating costs.

2. Sharp reduction or elimination of special charges, like those levied for snow removal or maintenance of streets between streetcar tracks, motor fuel and license taxes.

3. Zone fares, whereby more is charged by the mile. This would be helpful mainly in big cities.

4. A special gas tax, with proceeds allotted to a municipally owned transit system.

5. A minimum stand-by charge for the privilege of having transit service available.

6. Parking charges or taxes, to pay for extended transit service, fringe parking lots and shuttle bus services. Unprofitable routes could be maintained this way.

7. Local government financing, putting transit in the same category as highways, streets and lighting. Under this plan the locality would pay the cost of rights-of-way for rapid transit.

Several cities have tried out four of the proposals, but the special gas tax, the stand-by and parking charges have yet to undergo their first tests.

Strained American Charity

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Americans are generous and they give freely to good causes. This is particularly true during the Christmas season. Therefore, it is surprising that private donations to Hungarian relief are not what they were expected to be.

We love fighters for liberty but we are burdened by the high cost of living and the brutality of taxes. The real reason for delayed action, however, is that there are too many organizations in the field and too much confusion. If we are to give to the Hungarians we want to be sure that they and nobody else get whatever it is that we give.

The American Red Cross would normally be the right organization to take hold, but the American Red Cross is in a contractual relationship with the International Red Cross which operates out of Switzerland.

WHILE IT IS TRUE that the Hungarian Communists will not permit American relief to come into Hungary under the American flag, it is equally true that Americans do not want any of their contributions to fall into the hands of the Hungarian Red Cross which is a Communist-controlled organization, as all organizations are in Soviet countries.

Unfortunately for the people of any Communist country, the government owns everything in the country, including the organizations of the people. That is exactly what the heroic Hungarians are fighting against. The danger is that American relief would, under such circumstances, be used for political purposes by Hungarian Communists.

The Swiss who go in as inspectors would be helpless, except that they could a year or two from now publish a report saying how bad the Hungarian Communists are, something that has been demonstrated for all the world to see.

OF COURSE, much work can be done in Austria among the refugees and in Vienna, there is no reason why American relief should not fly the American flag. But this is only a part of the relief problem.

Food, medicines and clothes must be sent into Hungary for the people there who have heroically fought tanks with their fists and have not lost the battle.

It may be possible to get such items into Hungary through the International Red Cross with some small supervision and if the gamble is worth anything, it is worth taking in the hope that some other than Communist party members will benefit but it is a long chance because Communist in action are brutal partisans even using food for children to achieve their wicked ends.

MEANWHILE, the people inside Hungary feel deserted and friendless and are fighting for their soil until all are killed which butcher Zhukov is as capable of doing as Stalin had millions killed in the Ukraine.

Zhukov has been advertised in this country as an approximate gentleman because he knew Gen. Eisenhower in World War II but there is nothing in the record to establish his gentility.

Herbert Hoover managed relief expeditions during and after World War I and always under the American flag. Lenin admitted the American Relief Administration into Russia to perform exactly such services as need now to be done in Hungary.

The Russian relief was a tremendous success despite numerous difficulties, both physical and political. The Bolsheviks were naturally very suspicious of the ARA, but they were also very hungry. The American Relief Administration was able to raise and expend $61,566,231.53 in Soviet Russia to save a people who were starving. Americans worked inside Russia and flew the American flag.

AT THE TIME that the ARA went into Russia, it was looking after 3,500,000 children in 10 countries, always as Americans. No disguise was necessary to hide the origin of the aid. It is interesting that in the correspondence between Maxim Gorky and Herbert Hoover, the latter stipulated:

"That American representatives of the Relief Administration shall be given full liberty to come and go and move about Russia."

"That these members shall be allowed to organize the necessary local committees and local assistance free from governmental interference."

Perhaps there was more courage in those days even when one wanted to serve the hungry and broken. Today, when we are so powerful, we seem to be afraid of our own shadows. Indeed, we pay for Swiss and Swedes to supervise American aid.

Growing Old Usefully

By WILLIAM RAPP

PHILADELPHIA

The commonplace formula for an old folk's home — rocking chair, checker board and three square meals a day — has been thrown out the window by a unique institution that has blazed new trails for care of the aging.

The Philadelphia Home for the Jewish Aged has been granted $130,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation with no strings attached to forge ahead with a long-term medical, psychological and sociological research program in which the 288 resident aging men and women are playing a most useful part.

Usefulness, in fact, is a key word in describing the life offered residents at the home. Not content with simply "taking care of" the oldsters, this institution aims at serving through research the entire aging group of America, while at the same time giving men and women in the home happier, fuller lives.

Every two weeks the home sends two elderly volunteers, healthy men between 65 and 75, to the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md., where they are put through a string of 41 tests. Results add to medical profession's knowledge of the problems of oldsters. The home has also status as a medical training classroom. It is used by students at Hahnemann General Hospital who will be the new generation of geriatric specialists.

Roughly half the residents work in the home shop, assembling screw drivers, stitching ammunition bandoleers and performing other light but useful, tasks for which they are paid in addition to the regular home allowance of $5 per month. Many come here with such programs but the Philadelphia home is the only one that also is open to non-residents. The only qualification is that an employee be over 65.

The residents are encouraged to come and go as they like, even to take vacations and one or two are always away from the home at any given time. When in residence, though, the oldsters live in an atmosphere more like an apartment hotel than an institution. Applicants are admitted first as guests for three weeks. Only if they are satisfied with the life are they admitted permanently.

Commies Change Their Act

The Communist party in the United States is out with a new constitution giving it a new looking, turning Joe Stalin's picture toward the wall and classifying itself as just another American political party observing all the democratic processes.

It gives Karl Marx the middle name of "Yank" and its attitude toward Lenin seems to be "The name is familiar but I don't recall the friendship."

All the new constitution lacks is the inscription "Any resemblance to the ideas of Khrushchev are purely a coincidence."

THE IDEA is to present the Communist party as nothing but a legal political outfit standing for "socialism by optional roads" and elimination of the notation in its guide table "To Moscow Only."

The new charter drops the "overthrow the government or bust!" slogan, throws false whiskers into the alley, drops the endorsement of red as the only admissible color, permits free speech and (hold your breath, boys!) declares it seeks to "obtain objectives only by the free and democratic choice of the MAJORITY!"

It even says the Commies will have the right to criticize one another, use their right names, and will no longer be required to meet in dark alleys and exchange torn cereal boxtops as proof of identity.

WE HAVEN'T HEARD of the clause in the new charter which puts white and blue touches into a red flag and allows a quick detachable field of stars, but it must be there somewhere.

There has been nothing like it since the leopard changed his spots. In fact the leopard may now have to take second place among the "quick change" performers.

The Commies are trying to substitute the built-in smile for the wide-screen leer. It looks like the hammer and sickle have been dropped from the emblem and replaced by a book of bird-calls and a recording of "Hearts and Flowers."

The move to "go legitimate" is on. And the public reaction of Uncle Sam is "This is so sudden."

WASHINGTON IS WATCHING developments, wondering if the new constitution makes the Communist party more acceptable or just more slippery. It is having trouble imagining a Commie who wouldn't harm a hair of the government's head, has developed a love affair with the ballot box and wants to answer "Are you a Communist?" with the smiling answer "Certainly, and why not? It's merely a political party which trusts voters and accepts results."

A RECENT SURPRISE action by a New York court in abruptly postponing until next April the trial of alleged plot conspirators in the blinding of Victor Riesel has folks talking. . . . Nobody deferred for four months the brutal blinding of a crusading newspaperman, and it jarred many people to see the alleged "Mister Big" in the plot apparently unhampered in plans for a pleasant winter in Florida. . . . But it is now rumored that the long postponement will bring developments making the case against the defendants more conclusive.

A Detroit man has invented gasoline-powered roller skates. . . . They are operated by a small motor strapped on the skater's back. . . . The "outboard skater" will be a peculiar addition to the great American Society of Men Opposed to Visible Effort. . . . If such a skater falls down we assume he will be equipped with a push button device for getting rightside up again.

Buck Crouse was always a shrewd boy in a poker game and no critic of the "quit when you're ahead" theory. . . . This makes it easier to understand why his new musical gold mine "Happy Hunting" was produced by Jo Mielzner, scenic designer, although Crouse and Lindsay are really Midas, Midas and Midas, Incorporated. . . . They will make another fortune by simply saying, "I'll pass this time."

Conductor Discovers Rise of Rock 'n Roll

ST. LOUIS — Vladimir Golschmann, conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, returned from a six-month tour of Europe, just in time to learn that rock-n-roll music is the latest fad. "A few years ago, it was much better," he said. "The blues, you know. The blues have some charm. Now the trend—it's noisy. Whatever I hear always sounds like the same song. 'Do people really need all that noise?'"

CINCINNATI — If you ever dreamed of sailing around the world aboard your own windjammer, then you know what lures these two men.

They're Jack O'Shea, 43, Kelso, Wash., ironworker, and Ed Brown, 24, Portsmouth payroll worker.

They've got the boat. And they plan to shove off today, down the Ohio River to the Mississippi, then to New Orleans for fitting out.

This is actually the second stage of the voyage to the seas, that began three days ago in Portsmouth.

The boat started taking shape more than three years ago when O'Shea and his family came to Portsmouth.

The boat is the reason why O'Shea started there. The region has oak timber of the quality he wanted to go in the hull.

He set to work, using a talent for carpentry he "just picked up" to shape the keel, fit the ribs and plank the hull.

The 23-ton finished hull, christened "Antonia K", slid down the ways into the muddy Ohio River last week.

The craft is 44 feet overall, built along traditional lines, with the emphasis on rugged construction. She has a 13 foot beam, draws 5 feet, 6 inches of water and sleeps 12.

O'Shea plans to rig her as a ketch at New Orleans, and complete fitting out, including adding galley equipment.

The Skipper said that tentative plans call for visits in the Caribbean, then through the Panama Canal and westward for some "island-hopping."

The crew is still uncertain. Mrs. O'Shea and daughter Antonia — the boat's namesake — balked at the trip downriver, but may join them in New Orleans.

So far only Brown has "caught the old wanderlust" and signed aboard.

Brown said, "at first I thought this was a hairbrain scheme, but now I'm all for it."

Geraldine Page, stage and screen star, used to recite Shakespeare while working as a thread winder.

Britons Want Satch, Not the Philharmonic

LONDON — Louis Armstrong blew and blew for Hungarian relief Tuesday night, and then the 100-piece Royal Philharmonic Orchestra came on to play Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2.

The shouting, stamping audience—many in evening dress—at the Royal Festival Hall would not have it. They changed, "We want Satch, we want Satch . . ."

So the orchestra filed off the platform and Satchmo came back with his hot trumpet for five encores, while the Duke of Kent, the Earl and Countess of Harwood the Hon. Gerald Lascelles and hundreds of others applauded for more.

It was one of the greatest ovations ever given to the American musician who started in a waifs' home in New Orleans.

To Deliver Yule Mail Despite Federal Holiday

WASHINGTON — The post office says it will deliver before Christmas all the mail its employees can handle physically, even though Dec. 24 has been designated as a federal workers' holiday.

The department said the designation by President Eisenhower will not apply to "any postal employee whose services are needed to get the mail out."

Deliveries and post office hours will be on a normal basis Dec. 24. There will be no window service Christmas Day, but delivery of Christmas packages will be made on that day.

Under the chairmanship of D. W. Bailey, superintendent of schools representatives of civic groups have started action toward liquidating the debt on the flood lights in Firestone Park stadium. Lights were provided with an appropriation of $10,000 by village council July 5, 1946, under a stipulation that the village was to be reimbursed by Columbiana High School Athletic association with receipts from football and other events. After the debt had been reduced to $4,531.98 in the first few seasons the lights were in use, receipts were disappointing, and no substantial payments have been made in several years. The remainder is secured by notes long overdue.

At a recent meeting of representatives of civic groups with village council and the board of affairs in the council chambers, a campaign for funds to liquidate the debt was agreed upon. Letters explaining the situation and soliciting contributions have been mailed to industrial, business and professional leaders.

Quakers Blast E. Palestine 72-64 For 3rd Straight Win

Locals Stall In Last Period

Stephenson, Jackson Pace Quaker Attack

By MARK MILLER

Salem's Quakers won their third straight basketball game of the season last night, as they defeated East Palestine's Bulldogs 72-64 in a hard-fought game on the Palestine court before about 1,100 fans.

Johnny Stephenson and Ted Jackson paved the way for the Red and Black victory, scoring 26 and 20 points, respectively.

Bulldog Bob Gibson made a charity toss to begin the scoring 15 seconds into the first quarter, giving Palestine a one to nothing lead. But this was the only lead they held throughout the game.

STEPHENSON QUICKLY PUT the Red and Black in front with two quick baskets, one on a push shot inside the key hole, and the other on a lay-up shot. Bulldog Gary Griffith hit on a set shot, but Stephenson scored again on a lay-up shot, and another push shot by Jackson got the Quakers rolling to a 23-14 first quarter lead. The Salem team hit on nine of 17 shots in the first period.

In the second period both clubs slowed down somewhat. The Bulldogs' outscored the locals 16 points to 14 points, and at intermission Salem held a slim 36-30 lead.

Both teams went on scoring sprees in the third period, with Salem meshing the net for 21 points and East Palestine, 20 points. At the close of the third quarter the Red and Black were leading 57-50.

In the last stanza the Quakers displayed the stall tactics that have garnered Salem previous victories. At one period during the quarter the Quakers froze the ball for one minute and fifteen seconds.

THE RED AND BLACK limited the Bulldogs to 14 points while scoring 15 points in the final frame.

Salem showed marked improvement from the field, scoring on 26 of 70 field goal attempts for a 37.1 average. The Quakers also hit on 20 of 30 free throw attempts for a high 66.6 average.

Senior Mark Fenton pulled down 15 rebounds and Ted Jackson cleared the backboards of nine. The team grabbed a total of 47 rebounds altogether.

East Palestine, giving the Salem team stiff competition all the way, had a good evening from the field also, hitting on 21 of 71 field goal attempts for a 29.5 average. The Bulldogs dumped in 22 of 31 charity tosses for an envied 70.9 percentage. Al Huston pulled down 17 rebounds, and the team effort on controlling the boards was 45 rebounds, two fewer than the Quakers.

THE BULLDOGS' Sam Hirt, Bob Gibson, Tom Young and Gary Griffith all hit in the double figure column, with 11, 20, 13 and 16 points, respectively.

East Palestine's season record now stands at two victories and two defeats, and its next game will be played at home Jan. 8 against Columbiana.

Salem's next game will be played on the new local gymnasium floor Dec. 28, against Akron Garfield which has a season record of three straight wins.

John Holzbach was referee, and John Russ was umpire for last night's tilt.

'56 Oklahoma Team Exceeds Records Of Great 1955 Squad

By The Associated Press

The 1956 Oklahoma University football team, which finished in a blaze of glory, outdid even the great 1955 Sooners, final NCAA service bureau statistics revealed today.

In completing their second straight offensive "triple", the Sooners averaged 481.7 yards a game on offense, gained an average of 391.0 by rushing and scored at a rate of 46.6 points a game. Last year the figures were 410.7, 328.9 and 36.5.

The 391-yard rushing average was an all-time NCAA major college record and in this department Oklahoma was 107.5 yards a game ahead of second-place Virginia Tech. Other Oklahoma records for the season were the 481.7 total offense the greatest a team ever made against all-major opposition, and totals of 179 first downs by rushing and 202 altogether.

Oklahoma's 466 points in 10 games is the second-highest total recorded since 1920, having been exceeded in the past 36 years only by Army's 504 points in 1944. The only other teams even to approach Oklahoma's rushing record were Army in 1945 with a 359.8 yard average and Texas Mines in 1943 with 378.3.

This Sooner sweep left only the passing titles to be divided up by a couple of Pacific Coast teams.

Washington State won the overall team passing title with an average of 206.8 air yards per game as compared to Stanford's 204.4. College of the Pacific and San Jose State were third and fourth, marking the first time teams from one section have created such a passing monopoly.

Texas Signs Darrell Royal

Ex-Oklahoma Star Succeeds Ed Price

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The University of Texas today turned its sagging football fortunes over to Darrell Royal, a young coach with an unusual amount of experience.

It gave him five years to rebuild. In Royal, the university got one of the crack quarterbacks who led Oklahoma to victory over Texas.

Royal, 32, who coached at the University of Washington the past season, was picked as Texas' twenty-fifth head coach in 63 years of football at a meeting of the board of regents Tuesday.

The former Sooner field general, who has coached at four colleges plus the Canadian Professional League, was named to succeed Ed Price, the coach who resigned amid hanging effigies and grumbling of the alumni with a year to go on his contract.

Price quit Oct. 31 as his last Texas team was moving toward the worst football season in the university's history. It won only one game out of ten.

At the same time that Royal was selected as coach, Ed Olle, veteran member of the athletic department who has been business manager, was elevated to athletic director succeeding D. X. Bible, who retires to limited service Sept. 1, 1957.

Royal was an assistant coach at North Carolina State in 1950, at Tulsa in 1951 and Mississippi State in 1952. He coached the Ed-monton professional team in the Canadian league in 1953, winning 16 games and losing 3. He became head coach at Mississippi State in 1954 and had a 6-4 record both in 1954 and 1955. He went to Washington this year under a 4-year contract at $17,000 a year. He had a 5-5 record his first season.

Salem Reserves Rip E. Palestine 61-42

By BOB JULIAN

Racking up their third straight victory of the young 1956 season, the Salem High School Junior Varsity romped over the East Palestine JV's 61-42 last night on the Bulldogs' court.

For the second week in a row sophomore Lou Slaby lead the Karl ellers-coached five, displaying all-around ability on the boards and from the scoring angle. Slaby again proved to be a terror on the back boards, plucking off rebound after rebound. Big Lou found the range for nine buckets and one free throw for 19 points to lead the uakers. He was closely followed by Darryl Adams who drilled in 16 markers.

BOTH TEAMS peppered the hoops early in the first period and at the close of the initial stanza the Quakers were in command 15-13.

In the second quarter Slaby went to work, scoring half of the Red and Black's total output of 16 markers. Big Lou controlled both back boards, keeping the Bulldog team in a turmoil most of the time.

Palestine chalked up eight markers, but the Salem lead increased to 10 points, and the Quakers left the floor at intermission holding a 31-21 advantage.

During the first half the Zellers-men attempted three foul shots and sank one while the Bulldogs dropped in one of seven.

THE THIRD QUARTER was all Salem again as Slaby, Adams and Clyde Marks dominated the rebounding on both boards and the three of them accounted for 10 of the Quakers' 18 points in the stanza. Palestine, hitting on outside shots, picked up 12 markers but dropped further back of the Salemites after three periods 49-33.

Coach Zellers cleared his bench in the final stanza and the subs played good ball, increasing the locals' lead. The locals chalked up 12 markers to nine for the Bulldogs in the period to win the tilt going away 61-42.

The leading point producers for Palestine were J. Knight with 14 and Bolon with 10.

Quaker Freshmen Eke Victory Over Potters

By BOB JULIAN
Salem High School's freshman basketball squad kept on its winning ways Tuesday as it eked out a win over East Liverpool East Junior High 39-37 at East Liverpool.

The win was the 13th straight over two years and 14th in a row under Coach Sam Pridon.

The Quakers had to fight every inch of the way in coping their second win of the 1956 campaign, however. Big Ed Yates led the Salemites to an early 8-3 margin in the initial period as he meshed three field goals in three tries for six tallies. The Red and Black after the first seven minutes forged to a 12-5 quarter lead.

LIVERPOOL CAME to life in the second stanza as they rallied to outscore the Pridonmen 11-8 and come within four markers of the Quakers at halftime 20-16.

With Davey Hunter setting the pace, the Red and Black were able to maintain their slim lead after three periods of play 30-23. The locals tallied 10 markers to seven for Liverpool with Hunter collecting six in the third frame.

In the final period Mackall of Liverpool meshed eight of his 18 points, but the lead the Quakers had built up was too great to overcome. Salem again was outscored in this stanza 14-9.

Salem took 39 shots from the field and connected on 13 for a percentage of 33.3. At the foul line they attempted 24 and dumped in 13 for 54.2 per cent. East Liverpool tried 44 field goal attempts and hit on 15 for a percentage of 34. From the charity stripe the Potters sank seven of 17 for a 41.1 percentage.

Leading the Quakers in the scoring department were Davey Hunter with 10 and Ed Yates with eight. The big guns for East Liverpool were Zeich and Mackall with 12 and 18, respectively.

He voiced gratitude over Radio Budapest that Russia finished first in the Olympics, saying "this proved that the socialist countries are in the forefront in every field." The United States was second; Hungary finished fifth.

Some of the Hungarians who stayed behind planned to remain in Australia for the time being and others hope to settle in countries other than the United States.

One of those to be admitted to this country is Laszlo Tabori, a 4-minute miler. Another is his coach, Mihaly Igloi. Others include fencers, swimmers and members of the water polo team.

In granting them U. S. entry, Brownell used discretionary authority under the immigration laws, acting on State Department recommendations.

NEW YORK (AP)—Already singled by the hair-raising pass grabbing of end Harlon Hill, the New York Giants today turned their attention toward Hill, in particular, and the Chicago Bears, in general, as they planned strategy for the National Football League championship playoff Dec. 30.

"We'll try to double up on him as much as we can," said Jim Lee Howell, coach of the Eastern Conference champs. "But we can't go overboard on him because the Bears have such good runners. That's what makes it so hard to set up a defense for them."

In the only regular season meeting between the teams, in Yankee Stadium Nov. 25, Hill came up with two spectacular touchdown catches in the final quarter to enable the Bears to pull out a 17-17 deadlock. Since the Bears won the Western Division title with a 9-2-1 record over Detroit's 9-3-0, Hill's performance in that game was of paramount importance.

"I don't know for sure who's going to defend against Hill," said Howell. "He's all over . . . at end, in the backfield . . . just all over. If I tried to have specific men cover him, they'd be running into each other. The best I can hope for is to do it by assigning areas, to double him on either side."

Between now and the Yankee Stadium title game, the Giants will have to concentrate on defense. The Bears produced the most powerful scoring machine in the NFL in the regular campaign—363 points in 12 games for an average of better than 30 points a game.

Pat McAteer Faces Webb In Bout Tonight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—Pat McAteer, regarded as Europe's best current world title prospect at any weight division, meets Chicago's middleweight pride, Spider Webb, in a 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium tonight.

Webb, 24, will be trying to extend a 17-fight winning string in the nationally televised encounter (9 p. m. CST, ABC) against the British Empire middleweight champion.

McAteer, a native of Birkenhead, England, can punch with either hand but especially is adept with a left hook. The 24-year-old invader has won 42 out of 44 starts and scored 21 knockouts.

McAteer made his U.S. debut last September, taking a 10-round decision from Jerry Luedee in New York. A month later he successfully defended his empire crown against Lou Lazar in 15 rounds.

If Webb wins he probably will meet Joey Giardello next on the ladder to an eventual world title shot.

McAteer, on leave from the English Merchant Marine, says he is matched with Charley Humez in London during February for the European middleweight crown.

Webb, a member of the 1952 U. S. Olympic boxing team and after turning pro won 11 straight before entering the army. He has won six in a row since his discharge last April, including victories over Holly Mimms, Rory Cahoun and Charlie Cotton in recent TV main events at Chicago Stadium.

A fast puncher, Webb has lost only once in 19 bouts and is credited with 11 kayoes, including a four round knockout before his army days over Bobby Boyd, Chicago's fourth ranked middleweight contender. Webb is ranked ninth by the National Boxing Assn.

The fight will be scored under the five-point "must" system.

Chamberlain 'Held' To 23 Points As Kansas Trips California 66-56

By DON WEISS
What's happening to Wilt the Stilt? Why, at this rate, the towering sophomore phenom of the top-rated Kansas Jayhawks is liable to become just another of the flock of college basketball players who score a couple dozen points a game and manage to get their names in the paper now and then.

Chamberlain, who stands seven feet and weighs 215 without his press clippings, was "held" to a meager 23 points Tuesday night as the Jayhawks made it five in a row, 66-56 over California.

Quite a comedown for the big fellow who broke into varsity competition with a 52-point plurage but hasn't been able to go over 39 since.

With Wilt's average at 36 a game, Kansas might even be expected to lose a game in the three years Chamberlain will be around.

It almost happened Tuesday night, Cal, using a collapsing defense that sometimes put three or four men on the Kansas ace, held Chamberlain to three field goals and a total of only 9 points while taking a 33-25 halftime lead. It wasn't until midway of the second half that the Jayhawks got ahead and then Wilt, leading the way with his scoring and rebounding, pushed them on to No. 5.

Missouri, another West Coast visitor, thrashed Oregon State 71-41 with Lionel Smith scoring 21.

Elsewhere Tuesday night, Duke and St. Louis — the early season "giant killers" — were at it again. Duke with a last-minute drive that ripped seventh - rated Kentucky, 85-84, and St. Louis with a romping 93-77 decision over Louisville.

West Virginia swept past Richmond 105 - 74 for its seventh straight, and in the Carrousel Tournament at Charlotte, Wake Forest and Auburn won their way into the finals.

Wake Forest, the defending champion, edged Florida 55-53. Auburn got its 66-64 victory over St. Joseph after the official decided a tip-in by Kurt Engelbert of St. Joseph came just after the final buzzer and didn't count.

three to one first quarter lead, 26-8, and increased their margin in every succeeding quarter. The score at the half was 48-15, and at the three-quarter mark the Trojans led 68-29.

Tom Bowker was high scorer for New Waterford, netting 10 goals and seven fouls for a total of 27 points.

King paced the losers with 10 points.

The Trojans now have a 6-1 record for the season.

New Waterford's next game will be at home Friday against Millville, Pa.

The Trojan reserves won the preliminary tilt of the evening 44-22.

Norman Van Brocklin of Los Angeles, successfully defended his punting title, averaging 43.1 yards per boot to 42.7 for Green Bay's Dick Deschaine.

Ken Konz of Cleveland was tops on punt returns, averaging 14.4 yards per return as against

Parents Await Word

From Kidnaped Girl

DALY CITY, Calif. — Mr. and Mrs. John M. Mowatt armed themselves and waited today for some word of their 17-year-old daughter, taken from home at gunpoint by her mentally disturbed husband.

A statewide hunt for Clo Ann Mowatt Wiegner, her 16-year-old husband, Mike, and another escaped mental patient, Jesse Eastman, 35, of Oakland, failed to turn up a clue.

Police said Wiegner and Eastman entered the Mowatt home Monday night, bound the girl's parents and dragged off the protesting girl.

Both Wiegner and Eastman were charged with kidnaping, armed robbery, assault with a deadly weapon, burglary and theft of Mowatt's automobile. They escaped from Napa State Hospital Monday.

Probation officer Anthony Lovey said the Wiegners eloped in November and were married in Superior, Mont.

No British, French Crews

Expected To Clear Canal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld is expected to turn down recommendations from his top advisers in Egypt that British-French salvage crews be used to help clear the blocked Suez Canal.

Informed sources indicated Hammarskjöld felt the U. N. salvage fleet he has been organizing will be able to do the job quickly and efficiently without any help from Britain and France.

The secretary general said in a statement Tuesday night the U. N. had built up a fleet "able to begin operations immediately."

Hammarskjöld was reported to have 10 salvage ships ready to start removing sunken ships, bridges and other debris as soon as the last British and French units leave Egypt. The salvage vessels have been drawn from Denmark, the Netherlands, Germany, Italy and Belgium.

Another 10 ships are scheduled to reach the canal area by Thursday and 11 others are due later this month.

Hammarskjöld also was said to have 600 crewmen, divers, salvage experts and others lined up to begin the clearing operation, which diplomats estimate can cost as much as 60 million dollars.

A U. N. spokesman said Hammarskjöld's decision to use neutral workmen was his own idea and not Egypt's. Egypt has declared it will not permit British and French crews to be used.

Vice Adm. L. F. Durnford-Slater, commander of British naval forces at Port Said, said a compromise plan to use part of the British-French salvage fleet and some 200 of its men had been approved and forwarded to Hammarskjöld by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the U.N. Emergency Force commander, and U. S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, chief of the U. N. canal clearing operation.

Although they still refused to turn their ships over to outside crews, the British and French agreed to put their men in civilian clothes for the clearance job and to remove any larger guns on the ships.

However, a spokesman for Egypt's Suez Canal Authority said the proposal would not even be considered until all British and French forces had quit Egypt. This apparently precluded any chance that the compromise proposal might be adopted, since Britain and France have said there must be prior agreement or their salvage vessels will be withdrawn from Port Said with their last military units.

Signs continued to mount that the final pull-out by British and French invasion forces would be accomplished today or Thursday. A vanguard of Egyptian police already is in Port Said and U.N. forces in the city were to take over all civil government functions from the British and French today. The U.N. force will assume responsibility for public utilities, finance, communications, food distribution, public health and safety. It gradually will turn these operations over to Egyptian authorities.

Hungarian

Emergency Relief

TO THE MILLIONS OF AMERICANS WHO HAVE ASKED:

"HOW CAN WE HELP

THE BRAVE PEOPLE OF HUNGARY?"

You have read about the incredible suffering of the freedom-loving people of Hungary.

You and millions of other Americans have looked around your own safe homes—looked at your warm clothes and asked: "How can we help?"

Here is your answer. To date, over 100,000 Hungarian men, women and children have escaped with their lives to neighboring Austria. Many are sick. Some are wounded. All are hungry. And most of them face winter with only the clothes they were wearing when they escaped.

But their ordeal is not over. For generous Austria's meager supplies have been stripped bare. There is little food, little medicine, little coal, little shelter. And new thousands of refugees arrive daily. In Hungary itself, hundreds of thousands must be fed through the cold winter. The lives of these people depend upon your generosity.

Your money will buy desperately needed supplies for those tens of thousands stranded in Austria. Your money will reach into the ruins of Budapest and help feed the hungry people there.

Literally every dollar you send will be used for on-the-spot relief.

The need is terrible and the need is now. Please give to HERO (Hungarian Emergency Relief Organizations). And please give today!

PART-TIME 'ZOO' FOR FLYING ANIMALS

ONE OF THE largest "zoos" in the world is New York's Idlewild airport. The reason for that is that the various airlines there transport all kinds of animals, birds and fish. One of the largest is maintained by KLM Royal Dutch airlines. Fifteen per cent of the line's air freight is accounted for by animals from chicks to baby elephants.

A baby elephant, incidentally, gets lonely, so a white hen is put in with him. The elephant won't step on the hen and regards it as a friend. Tigers must be placed in tail section near the ventilating system, because the other animals can smell tigers and become afraid. Monkeys are most troublesome. They fight a good portion of time.

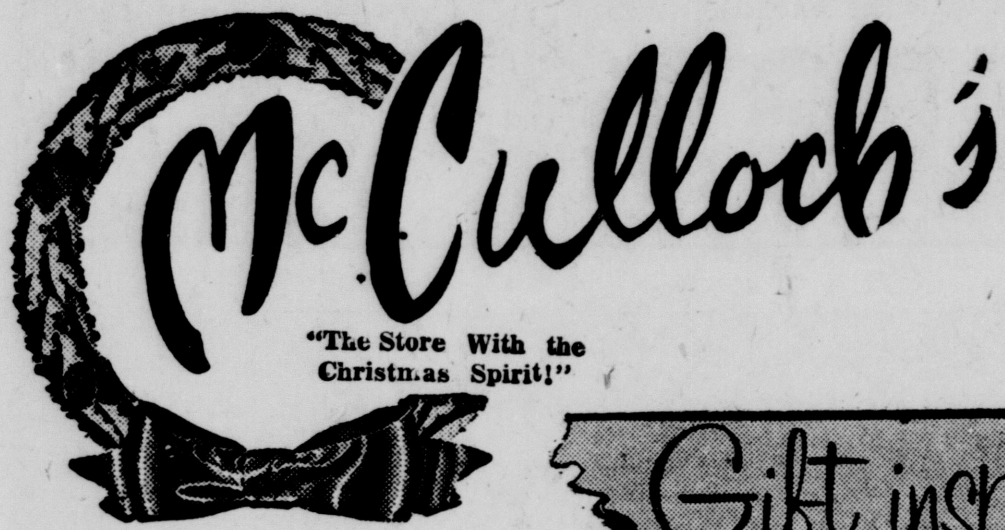

Among the variety of air-minded animals are cubs (left), chicks (center) and goats (right). Baby chicks are stored about 100 to each box.

House That Jack Built

By HAL BOYLE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — It's nice sometimes to find that dreams really can come true, said the blue-eyed, middle-aged lady, looking down from the balcony to the sun-worshippers on the beach.

"Yeah," said her husband, co-monarch of all they surveyed, except the ocean itself.

They are Al and Sadye Tisch who, with their two sons, Larry, 33, and Bob, 30, in a single decade have become the "world's largest family resort owners."

Their dream come true is the fabulous 17 million dollar Americana, Florida's "hotel of the year."

The building is a 15-floor luxury symbol of the postwar prosperity spree that has come to the United States and to a family—the four Tisches. It is the House That Jack Built, and there's more jack where it came from.

Ten years ago Al, a former New York City college basketball player, and his wife wearied a bit from their chores in running two enterprises—a prosperous clothing business, a successful children's camp. They, like their sons, were interested in the hotel field.

"We came to Florida in 1946, but we couldn't make the right deal," said Sadye, who is vivacious and does the talking for the elder branch of the family.

"Yeah," said Al, who is balding, silent and friendly.

So they picked up the million dollars or so they had to invest and began buying hotels elsewhere—Laurel-in-the-Pines in New Jersey, the Belmont Plaza in New York, the Traymore and Ambassador in Atlantic City, and (over the years) some six other properties. Whatever they touched turned to gold, or, if it didn't they got rid of it quick.

"But we still had Florida sand in our shoes," said Sadye. "We kept coming back to our first dream. For a while we were afraid that Miami Beach was overbuilt, oversold, and overcrowded. But year after year we checked, and found that more and more people were coming here. Do you know seven million people visited Florida last year?"

"Yeah," said Al.

In the spring of 1955 they bought a 10-acre site here, a 650-foot beachfront, and 17 months and 17 million dollars later they had the Americana Hotel.

The original million dollars or so they started with has been parlayed into properties which the Tisches themselves value at 50 million or more.

Have the Tisches gone mad in a luxury-mad world? Isn't their magnificent hostelry one step too much—even for Miami Beach, the frontier of the frantic dollar?

"No," said Sadye, "the surface of the prosperity to be here has been barely scratched, in spite of all the hotels that have gone up since the war ended."

"I don't understand it myself," said Al. "Before we even had a guest in the place we were offered 10 million more than we had put into it."

"It's comfortable," said Sadye, "It's our dream come true."

Man Admits Starting Fires In 5 Churches

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Mercer County Prosecutor Marion Volpe said today a suspect has admitted starting fires in five Trenton churches, including a 3½-million-dollar cathedral blaze which took three lives.

The man was not identified. Volpe said he is being held for a psychiatric examination.

Volpe said the man admitted starting four church fires here last Sunday and the blaze last March which destroyed St. Mary's Roman Catholic Cathedral, Msgr. Richard T. Crean and two housekeepers died in the cathedral blaze.

Sunday, the historic First Methodist Church was damaged to the extent of some $200,000 and another church suffered some $500 damage about a mile and a half away. Attempts were made to start blazes in two other smaller churches.

No charges were placed against the man immediately.

Japan Is Admitted To United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Japan was admitted to the United Nations by a unanimous vote Tuesday. It became the 80th member of the world organization.

The action took place in the General Assembly on the unanimous recommendation of the 11-nation Security Council.

Japan's admission had been held up almost five years by Soviet vetoes. Russia withdrew its opposition following the signing of an agreement with Japan last week ending the state of war between the two countries.

Assembly President Prince Wan Waihayakon welcomed Japan into the organization and invited the Japanese delegation to take its seat in the hall. The Japanese delegation was headed by Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

French Reds Sullen As Soviets Are Ripped

PARIS — Communist deputies turned out in full force but sullenly in their seats Tuesday as the French National Assembly began a three-day foreign policy debate centering initially on the Hungarian revolt. Only the Red benches were filled for the debate opening.

Center and right-wing deputies applauded lustily as speakers attacked the Soviet intervention in Hungary. The Communist deputies sat silently.

Foreign Minister Christian Pin-eau, intervening in the debate, again hammered his favorite theme that the United Nations had two sets of standards—one for the democracies and the other for the dictators.

"One feels shame for the inaction of the United Nations (on Hungary)," he said. "It was fooled by the Soviet Union."

Three Ohio Youths Are Killed In Crash

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — Three youths were killed and another was injured critically Monday night when an automobile crashed into a Baltimore Ohio freight train locomotive at the Fort Ball road crossing a half-mile of Willard.

The dead were identified by the state highway patrol as Michael

C. Risner, 17, of near Willard, driver of the car; Ronald Neeley, 17, and James Holiday, 18, both of Willard.

Tifis Bolen, 18, was taken to Willard Municipal Hospital, where his condition was reported as critical today. He suffered fractures of both legs, possible internal injuries and multiple cuts and bruises.

Dr. Charles Edel, Huron County Coroner, said the car apparently was going at a high rate of speed when it crashed into the side of the locomotive.

CONSTIPATED? new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and, so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAD, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAD neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAD exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAD, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Santa and the SECRET ROOM

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

Synopsis: The sorcerer threw his magic dust on me. He said it would turn me to gold in 3 days if I did not bring him the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. McGillicuddy and I went to the brownie ring makers in our search for the gold.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN
The brownies in Brownville work for Santa Claus. They make all the gold jewelry that Santa brings at Christmas time. They were surprised to see Calhoun McGillicuddy.

"What brings you here?" asked Alonzo, the head brownie. "Have you some last minute jewelry orders from Santa?"

"I only wish I had!" said the elf. He told them the awful story of how Santa had been turned to stone.

The brownies were horrified. "Then there will be no Christmas ever again! Whatever will happen to us all?"

"The sorcerer who did it wants gold," said McGillicuddy. "If we bring him the bottomless pot of gold from the end of the rainbow he will turn Santa back into himself. That is why we have come to you. We thought perhaps you got your gold from the rainbow

The elf and I mounted it and sailed away pot of gold and that you would lead us to it. "Alas," said Alonzo. "I have never seen the pot at the end of the rainbow. We get our gold from the Witch of Witherspoon. She has great chests filled with gold. She gives us what we need and in return we make Hallowe'en brooms for her and her sisters." "Then we must go to the witch and find out where she gets her gold," said McGillicuddy. "What way do we take to get there?" "The way is long," said Alonzo. "But we have recently finished a broom meant for her. Get on and it will take you to her."

HE GAVE US a black broom. The elf and I mounted and sailed away. I don't know how long or how far we went but at last we came down out of the sky near a great pile of chests.

Sitting on the top chest was a beautiful creature. I climbed up to her and said, "Can you tell us, please, where we might find the Witch of Witherspoon?"

She smiled sweetly. "I am!"

My surprise must have shown in my face for she laughed. "You think I should be ugly and wearing a tall black hat?"

I nodded.

"That's only my costume for Hallowe'en," she explained. By this time McGillicuddy had climbed up to us and the witch said, "I know you. I've seen you when I visited in Santa Land. How is my dear friend Santa?"

"Turned to stone," said the elf. Then he told her of the spell and of our need for gold.

"Take all my gold!" cried the witch. "These chests are full of it. Take it all if it will save Santa!"

"It's not enough," said the elf. "We must take the pot of gold from the end of the rainbow. Did your gold come from there?"

"No," moaned the witch. "I get my gold from Gustavus the Giant.

Where he gets it I do not know. But wait with me. He passes every day. Perhaps he'll know where to find the rainbow pot."

WE SETTLED DOWN on the chests of gold and the Witch of Witherspoon told us ghost stories to get our minds off our trouble.

McGillicuddy said there had been a ghost once in Santa Land. Every night the reindeer disappeared from the stables. The next morning they would be back, exhausted and dripping with sweat. One night one of the elves hid in the sleigh to see what happened. By and by, a ghost came in and drove the reindeer to some far-away ghost land where he delivered gifts to all the little ghosts who lived there.

"Good gracious!" cried the Witch of Witherspoon. "Whatever happened to him?"

Before the elf could answer I leaped to my feet.

"Look, look!" I screamed. "I am turning to stone!"

New Era's make the big difference in this—

HOLIDAY PARTY TREAT

Fancied-up with Cheese Dip, or heaped generously high by themselves, New Era Potato Chips have a deep down flavor, a satisfying golden goodness that's never quite been matched.

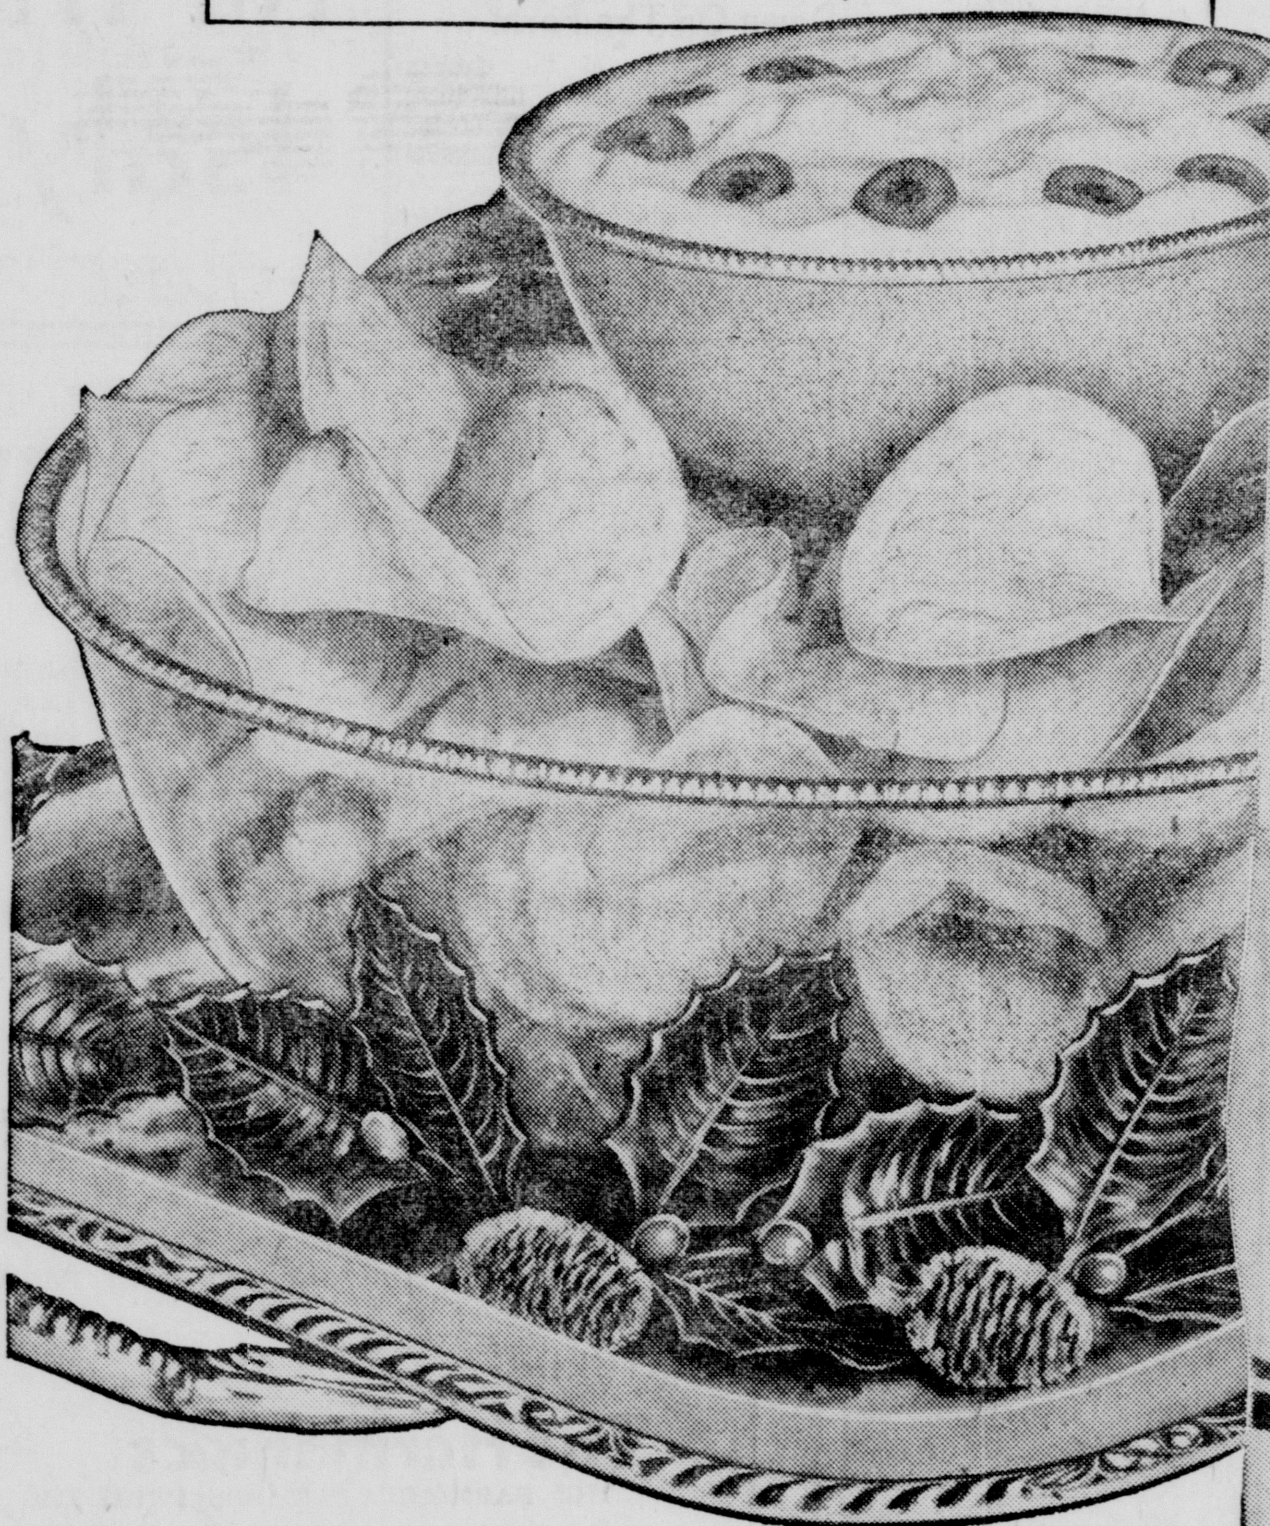

Many things help make this difference: Our field testing units that check farmers' fields, our use of pure white vegetable shortening (not oils), a little extra fussiness and pride that's made New Era's the largest selling brand of potato chips in America.

And, naturally, we use no artificial preservatives.

So many folks tell us that our New Era "Chip 'N' Dip" recipe makes the perfect party snack, that you'll want to try it if you haven't already:—

- 1 Large Package, Philadelphia Cream Cheese.
- 2 Large Teaspoons, Sharp Horseradish.
- 1 Teaspoon Grated Onion, or Pure Onion Juice.
- Cream.

Blend all ingredients together, adding cream until a "dipping" consistency is achieved. Garnish with sliced olives. Serve with New Era Potato Chips.

RED HOT — A technician prepares to let go a hot blast from the new E 30 R-1 "one-shot" flame thrower at the Army technical center, Edgewood, Md. The unit weighs 26 1/2 pounds, loaded, contrasted to the 72 pounds of the conventional flame thrower. It can be "jumped" as part of a paratrooper's equipment.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Prime Minister Nehru is neutral on nearly everything but criticism of Prime Minister Nehru. This champion of passive resistance has been seen whipping out his cane and personally dashing into a boisterous crowd to strike down those who did not think him the voice of the heavens.

Now he is in America and needed some impassive resistance at this week's state dinner where he found himself dining with AFL-CIO chief, George Meany, who last week had called him "an agent of the Soviet Union."

The blunt speaking Mr. Meany, leader of 16 million American working people, also said grimly to the other day that he hoped "to see him (Nehru) soon and tell him so to his face. And I feel the same way about Krishna Menon."

MR. MEANY TOLD friends he had a "bill of particulars" for the Indian scold who has built quite a reputation for himself as the essence of liberalism. The AFL-CIO president believes there is an aroma of something less than eau de cologne about Mr. Nehru's ous progressivism.

It can be reported that Mr. Meany wants to ask the Indian Prime Minister, face to face, just why the Indian government is so hard on unionism, for example. New Delhi has some of the toughest labor laws on any nation's books — and India's government practices are even tougher.

Mr. Nehru has been known to crush strikes with troops and launch mass jailing of labor leaders and strikers.

Compare this toughness with what happens in our own creaky capitalist state Mr. Nehru has so often chastised. Just the other week, members of the striking International Longshoremen's Assn., for example, pulled a slowdown. The shippers howled.

CAPT. WILLIAM BRADLEY, union president wandered up to the docks and said, "Hey, fellers, cut it out." A federal judge said he thought that a union-sponsored slowdown might violate his edict. Still no one speeded up.

But when I was in Calcutta one summer night in 1955, the Indian government handled a dock slowdown quite differently — and viciously, as you will see.

The local government immediately

THE ANIMALS' CHRISTMAS

Le Tourneau Raps Firm For Publicity On Beer, Beauties

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — R. G. Le Tourneau, multimillionaire industrialist, wants his name taken out of a brand name because, he said, beer and bathing beauties don't mix with his religious tenets.

The 66-year-old magnate who once said "God is chairman of my board of directors" wants his surname stricken from earth-moving equipment made by LeTourneau-Westhouse Co. Company officials declined comment at the request.

Behind the controversy was a publicity stunt used by the Pabst Brewing Co. in Peoria last summer to introduce a new type beer. A huge LeTourneau-Westhouse machine rolled through the streets. In its open tank a man swam in a mixture of the new beer and water. Scantily clad models adorned the rim of the portable pool.

LeTourneau, who in 1953 sold his Peoria plant to Westhouse Air Brake Co., expressed his indignation over the stunt in an open letter to the company published in the Christmas edition of "Now," a monthly publication of LeTourneau Tech in Longview, Tex.

"I am very much against liquor," the letter said. "I have consistently refused liquor advertisements at considerable loss of revenue on the two radio stations which I control."

"I would not have thought you (LeTourneau-Westhouse) would have allowed your product to be advertised in this manner—it certainly will affect your witness for Christ."

LeTourneau sent a copy of the letter to Merl Yontz, president of LeTourneau-Westhouse, suggesting that LeTourneau be dropped from the company name.

Yontz would not comment on the suggestion but said the Westhouse purchase of the plant included the LeTourneau name with no strings attached.

R. G. LeTourneau, Inc., builds earth moving equipment at other plants but has no connection with the Peoria factory.

A lay preacher of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, LeTourneau attributes his spectacular rise in the business world to God's help.

When LeTourneau ran the Peoria plant, religious meetings were held inside the factory several times a day.

L. M. Burton of the Goshen Road is serving again this term on the board of directors of the Buckeye Polled Hereford Association, Inc.

A. C. Hunsinger of Mt. Eaton was elected president of the association at the annual membership meeting Dec. 8 in Lancaster.

Ohio Expands Facilities For Handling Refugees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio expanded its facilities for handling incoming Hungarian refugees Tuesday with the creation of a special governor's committee on refugee relief.

The special committee, designed to co-ordinate activity in providing jobs and homes for Hungarian refugees, was approved at a meeting attended by Gov. Frank J. Lausche, representatives of church, civic and state organizations, and mayors from 11 Ohio cities—Cleveland, Dayton, Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati, Elyria, Lorain, Youngstown, Akron, Canton and Martins Ferry.

WINS STRIKE

Miss Dolores Mann, who conducted a "one-woman" strike against United Steel Workers Local 2227, is back at her desk in Pittsburgh after coming to an agreement with her union employers. Miss Mann picketed the union headquarters for eight weeks because of a "no marriage" clause in her contract. Wearing a big smile as she went back to work, she said "maybe" there will be a wedding now.

Says Couple Renounce U.S. Citizenship

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass announced today a St. Louis University professor and his wife have renounced their American citizenship to live and work in the Soviet Union.

S. Makar, 47, a specialist in geodesy and photogrammetry, the science of photographic map-making, and Mrs. Alexandria Sophia Makar.

Quoting the Stockholm Communist newspaper Ny Dag, the Soviet news agency said the couple announced their decision to abandon their American citizenship and seek Soviet citizenship in a letter mailed to the U. S. Embassy in Stockholm before they boarded a plane for Moscow Saturday.

"While following scientific literature in my own field," the professor was reported to have said, "I found that science is being taken seriously over there (in Russia) and that the best conditions for scientific research work exist in the Soviet Union. That is why I want to continue my work there."

He was fluent in Russian, Ukrainian, Polish and German and did not expect any language difficulties.

The Ny Dag account quoted Makar as saying he hoped to get a university chair in the Soviet Union. Tass did not indicate where he might be assigned. He attended the international conference on photogrammetry in Stockholm last summer.

Conceivably Makar — whose name is rather common in the Soviet Ukraine—might have been in contact with some of the Soviet scientists participating in the Stockholm conference.

U. S. Embassy officials in Stockholm in a position to know about the status of the Makars' citizenship were not immediately available for comment.

A St. Louis University publication of 1955 shows an Orest Stephen Makar was appointed associate professor of engineering there Sept. 1, 1954, after service as a mathematics consultant and general physicist on the technical staffs of the U. S. Air Force and Army.

The university publication described him as a 1932 graduate in civil engineering at the technical University of Lemberg, Ukraine, and an associate professor and lecturer in geodesy and photogrammetry at the International University, Munich, Germany, in 1945-47.

Olympic National Park, in the northwest sector of the state of Washington, is the summer feeding grounds for herds of elk.
